WebPager

WebPager

WebPager is a Message Management Application delivered with PageRouter Enterprise Server and TeraMessage at no additional cost. With WebPager, you can use any standard web browser, on any network or internet-connected computer, to securely send messages and perform account administration, no matter where you are. Packed with useful features, WebPager is a powerful tool to send and manage messages.
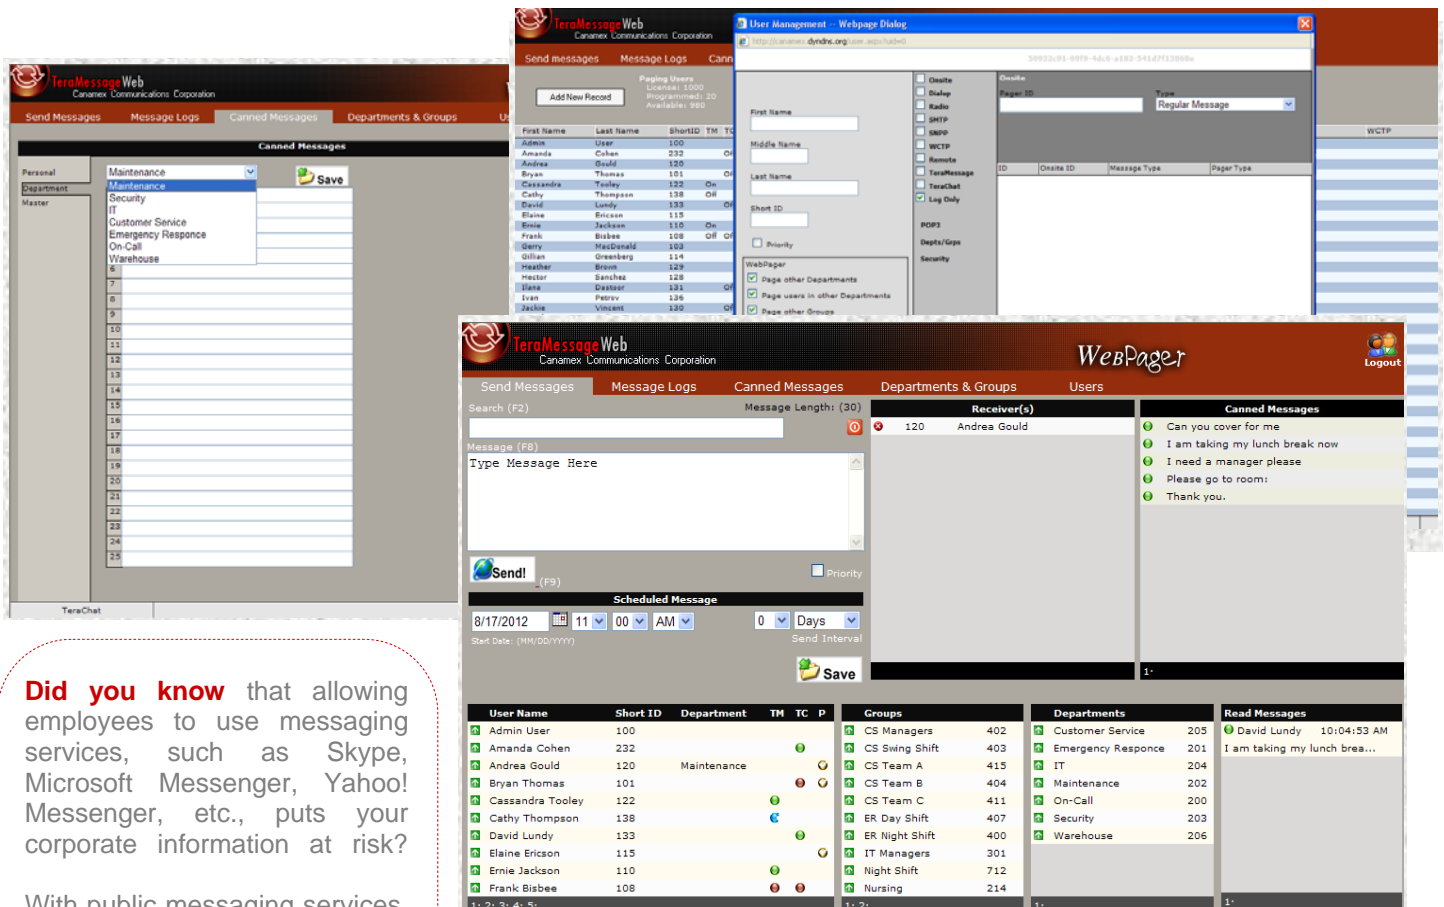

Did you know that allowing employees to use messaging services, such as Skype, Microsoft Messenger, Yahoo! Messenger, etc., puts your corporate information at risk?

With public messaging services, you have no control over who your employees are chatting with, and even perhaps sharing confidential files with.

With the TeraMessage, you eliminate this high risk by confining all your text communications, to one secure, private messaging system.

Everyone appreciates the difference that a high quality professional system makes.

Experience WebPager's user-friendly functionality and comprehensive account management for yourself, and find out why TeraMessage will be your preferred choice for your corporate messaging operations.

User-friendly functionality

Sending Messages is a Snap!

Either enter the recipient's name in the predictive search field, or select as required from the lists of Users, Groups and Departments.

Type your message content manually, in the field provided, or select from your list of canned messages.
TIP: You will love the timesaving canned message feature.

You can program an unlimited number of personal, department-wide, or global canned messages.

You can even schedule messages for transmission at a future date and time.

A helpful indicator icon shows the TeraMessage online status of each User, so you will know if smartphones and tablet recipients are available to receive your message right away. Of course, WebPager can also be used to send messages to Canamex onsite pagers, if this is also a part of the PageRouter Enterprise server functionality.

Comprehensive Account Management

When creating Users, there are several selectable options so you can customize the experience for each User. Select which message destinations are required, choose the security level, and assign Users to Departments and/or Groups.

Did you know that Supervisors can handle the every-day tasks of managing the Groups within their Departments, without involving the Administrator?

The Department Supervisor can also view all the messages sent and received by Users within their Department.

To give a User the right to send messages, simply set a username and password, so they can login and access the system.

Use the intuitive map to create an unlimited number of Departments and Groups; then, easily drag and drop Users to populate them.

Organizing your Users into Departments and Groups serves two very important functions:

1. It facilitates sending a single message to multiple Users.

2. You can limit Users to see only other Users who belong to their same Department(s) or Group(s). This function helps you to restrict Users from sending messages to unrelated Users.
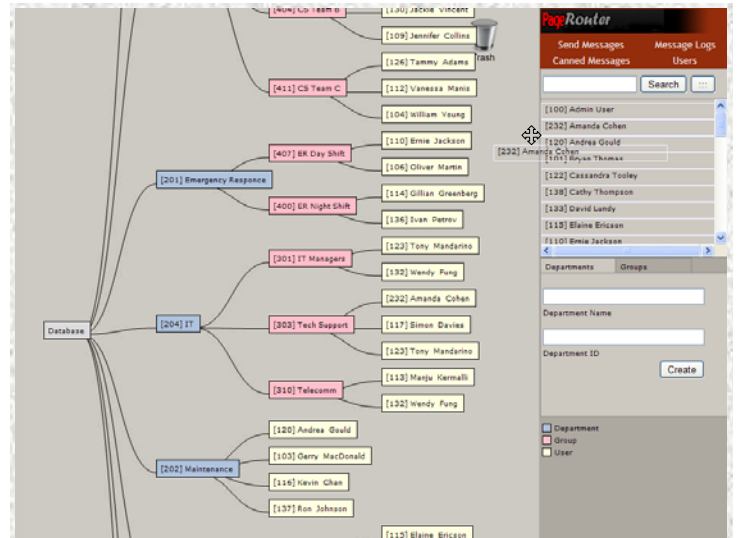

Message Logs

Detailed Logs help you keep track of who is sending messages, and to whom.

Full text of the message, date and time of transmission, message status (delivered, sent, read), and the names of the senders and recipients, are all stored in the detailed message log.
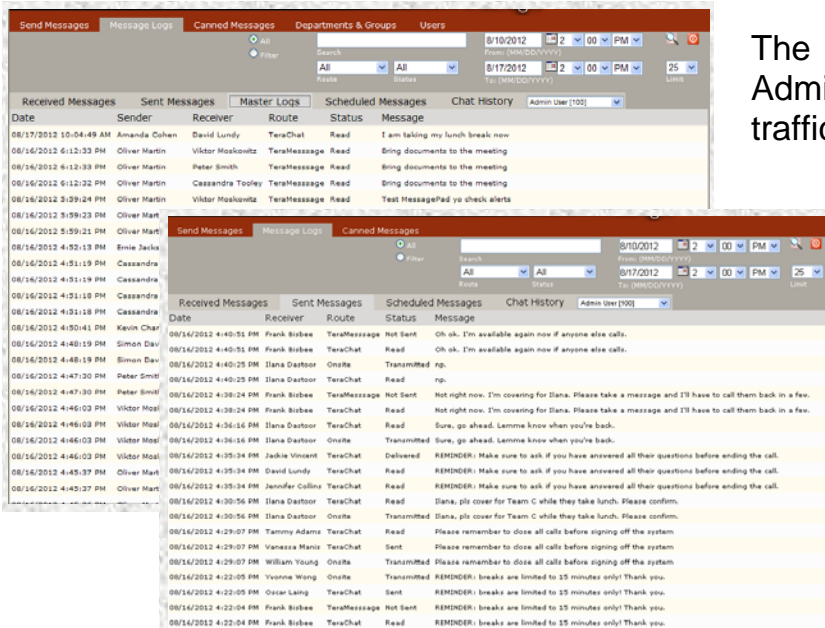

The Master Log, accessible only by Administrators, shows the message traffic for your entire User database.

Each User can access their Personal Logs, to review their sent and received messages.

You can search and filter the Message log, to locate what you are looking for, quickly and easily.
